*Part of meeting

IAC-M-333
18 March 1958

1. Approval of Minutes
11 March Meeting
(IAC-M-332)

Approved as written.

2. Situation Review

- a. Watch Committee Report
No. 397

Noted.

- b. Review of Sensitive Situations

The members discussed various factors bearing on the situation in France, including the probable longevity of the Gaillard government, the prospects for an eventual government headed by de Gaulle and the probable attitude of a de Gaulle government on questions such as NATO. The members and Mr. Kent also exchanged views on developments with respect to the [REDACTED] "good offices" mission in the French-Tunisian dispute.

25X6

The Chairman discussed with the members developments in Indonesia, referring specifically to matters such as the fighting around Medan and the position of Col. Barlian. Admiral Frost commented on the reported arrival in Java of Soviet cargo ships.

The members exchanged views on the situation in the Middle East with particular reference to the stability of the Saudi Arabian regime. In this connection, the Chairman and Mr. Arneson outlined recent State-CIA discussions with respect to a State Department paper on the Middle East. The Chairman emphasized the importance of producing at an early date an intelligence appraisal of longer-range trends in this area. Following this exchange of views, the Chairman suggested that the intelligence portions of the State paper be separated out and circulated, together with CIA comments thereon, to the IAC agencies for review, particularly from the standpoint of using them as a basis for the possible production of a coordinated estimate on the longer-range implications of various Middle Eastern developments. The members concurred in this procedure.

3. Discussion of NSC Action with Respect to IAC-USCIB Merger and Revision of NSCIDs

a. IAC-USCIB Merger

The members noted the record of NSC action indicating Presidential approval of the recommendation of the President's Board of Consultants on Foreign Intelligence Activities that a single group be established to assist and advise the Director of Central Intelligence in discharging his responsibility for the coordination of all operations concerned with both special and other forms of intelligence which, together, constitute the foreign intelligence effort of the US. The members then discussed in considerable detail various problems involved in carrying out this decision. After discussion the members agreed that the Chairman should attempt to arrange a meeting at the earliest convenient date between Generals Cutler and Hull (together with members of their staffs as appropriate) and the members of the IAC and USCIB to endeavor to clarify certain questions and generally to review matters related to implementation of this action.

b. Revision of NSCIDs

The members noted the NSC action approving the draft NSCIDs Nos. 1 through 5, subject to the direction to modify paragraph 17 of NSCID No. 1 and paragraph 4 of NSCID No. 2 in certain respects. Proposed amendments of these paragraphs circulated by General Truscott were then reviewed. Tentative agreement was reached on an amended version of paragraph 17 of NSCID No. 1 but final action was deferred until the next regular IAC meeting at [REDACTED] request. The members concurred in an amended version of paragraph 4 of NSCID No. 2.

25X1A

The members also noted the record of NSC action with respect to the revised NSCID No. 6 and NSCID No. 7 (NSC Action 1873, paras. d and e). In connection with NSCID No. 7, views were exchanged on the question of the preparation of a joint report by the Secretary of Defense and the Director of Central Intelligence on the communications means for transmission of critical intelligence (NSC Action 1873, para. e (1)). General Cabell noted that Admiral Irving and [REDACTED] had recently reviewed this problem and that General McClelland might join them in these discussions. The members agreed that General Collins should consult General Erskine on this matter, and that, subject to General Erskine's concurrence, the problem of implementing this portion of the NSC action should then be referred initially to the above group (including Admiral Irving and [REDACTED] and McClelland). The members also agreed that the second aspect of NSC Action 1873 e (relative to the definition of critical intelligence, establishing priorities for its transmission and development of communications requirements for transmission of such intelligence) be referred initially for implementation to the IAC-committee which is already doing work on this problem.

The members concurred in the recommendation of General Cabell, who was then presiding, that, for administrative convenience, the effective date of those NSCIDs which had been finally approved by the NSC should be 1 April.

With respect to a question raised by General Collins, General Truscott expressed the view that it would not be essential that new DCIDs be approved before the NSCIDs went into effect. In this connection, General Cabell noted that revised DCIDs would come before the IAC separately over a period of time and the members concurred in his suggestion that the new DCIDs should be effective as of the time they received IAC approval.

4. Proposed DCID 1/3
Priority National Intelligence Objectives
(Memorandum to IAC, 12 March)

Approved subject to the amendment of para. I d on page 3 to read: "Present and future Soviet capabilities for defense against nuclear attack by aircraft and missiles."

In this connection, [REDACTED] noted that appropriate subcommittees would proceed with the preparation of subsidiary priority objectives and that after IAC approval these subsidiary objectives would be published in one volume with the over-all PNIOs, pursuant to an earlier decision of the IAC (IAC-M-319, item 4).

5. NIE 54-58
The Outlook for Ceylon

25X1A

a. Approved as amended. In this connection, [REDACTED] noted that a post-mortem would be submitted at a later IAC meeting but that no validity study would be prepared as there had been no prior NIE on this country.

b. No member objected to the release of this estimate to USIA.

6. Proposed Reconsideration of SNIE 11-10-57
(IAC-D-81/16, 5 March)

After General Collins explained the reason for his proposal, Mr. Kent noted that evidence bearing on this and other aspects of the Soviet missile program were being currently reviewed by the agencies and GMIC in connection with the forthcoming over-all missile estimate (NIE 11-5-58) and suggested several alternative courses of action. After discussion the members agreed not to reexamine SNIE 11-10-57 formally at this time. However, it was understood that, at the first IAC meeting following submission of the GMIC contribution to NIE 11-5-58, the question of undertaking an SNIE on the Soviet ICBM program would be reviewed again, in the light of that GMIC contribution.

7. Release of Minutes to President's Board

The Chairman noted a request by the President's Board of Consultants on Foreign Intelligence Activities that they be placed on the regular distribution list for IAC minutes and the members agreed that this be done.
